CRADLES OF THE PRESENT

They Are More Blessed Than Ever Before-Some Rules by Which the Youth of Today Must Be Guided to Prepare for the Bright Future Which Comes in a Few Years.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage spoke on "The safety of young men," at the First Presbyterian Church, last evening. Dr. Talmage took his text from 11 Samuel, xviii: 29, "Is the young man Abcalom safe?" Talimage took bistext from H Sammel, xviii:
29. "Is the young man Abzalom safe?"
He began his sermon by a reference to David as he sat between the gates of his palace awaiting things from the battle. Absalom has turned against his father and marshaled an army to overthrow his father's government, and the great day of battle had come. Two great questions were to be decided: The safety of his boy and the continuance of the throne of Israei. When a messenger came from the hattleffeld, David's first question was not of the success of his forces, but "leady of young man absolom safe?"

And when it was told him that his forces had conquered, but his send had been slain, the father turned his back upon the congratulations of the nation and entered his home crying out. "Oh. And yet the young men of Washington, and all young men, have a right to ask those who have had many opportunities of studying this world and the next world to give helpful suggestion as to what theories of life one ought to adopt, and what dangers he ought to shun. Attention, young men!

GET YOUR SOUL RIGHT. First, get your soul right. You see, that a the most valuable part of you. It is he most important room in your house It is the parlor of your entire nature, fut the best pictures on its walls. Put the best music under its arches. It is important to have the kitchen right, and important to have the kitchen right, and the dining-room right, and the celiar right and all the other rooms of your nature right; but oh! the parior of the soul! Ecparioular about the gnests who enter it. "Have your body right. Let a young man make his body a wine closet, or a rim jug, or a whisky case, or a beer barrel, and smoke poisoning cigarettes until his hand trembles, and he is black under the eyes, and his checks Inil in, and then at some church seek and find religion; yet, all the praying he can do will not hinder the physical consequences of natural law fractured.

"Take care of your intellect. Here comes the flood of novelettes, ninety nine out of a hundred behittling to every one that opens them. Take at least one good newspaper with able editorial and reporters' columns mostly occupied with helpful intellegence appropriate to the columns of the columns of the columns in the columns in the columns of the columns in th telligence, announcing marriages and deaths and reformatory and religious assemblages, and charities bestowed, and the doings of good people, and giving but little place to many divorce cases, and stories of crime, which like cobras, sting those that touch them.

"Never go to any place where you would be and that that plant and is agrained to the. Adopt that plan, and you will never go to any evil amusement, nor be found in compromising surroundings. How many startling cases within the last few years of men being called out of the world, and the newspapers surprised us when they mentioned the locality and the when they mentioned the locality and the companionship. To put it on the least important ground, you ought not to go to any such forbidden place, because if you depart this life in such circumstances, you put officialing ministers in great embarassment.

BUY A HOME.

"As soon as you can, by industry and according have a home of your own. What do I mean by a home? I mean two rooms and the blessing of God on both of them; one room for slumber the other for food, its preparation and the partaking thereof. Mark you, I would like you to have a home with thirty osams, all uphoistered, pictured, and statusetted, but I am putting it down at the minimum. A husband and wife who can not be happy with a home made up of two rooms would not be happy in heaven if they got there.

"Oh, what opportunities you are going Oh, what opportunities you are going to have young men allover the world, under thirty. How thankful you ought to be that you were not born sooner. Blessed are the craffic that are being rocked new. Blessed are the students in the freshman class. Blessed those who will yet be soung men when the new century comes in.

"But the twentich century! That will be the time to see great sights and do great deeds. Oh, young men, get ready for the rolling in of that mightiest and grandest and most glorious century that the world has ever seen. Have your heart the world has ever seen. Have your heart right; your nerves right; your brain right; your digestion right. We will hand over to you our commerce, our mechanism, our arts and sciences, our professions, our pulpits, our inheritance. We believe in you. We trust in you. We pray for you. We bless you. And though by the time you get into the thickest of the fight for God and righteousiess, and when we may have disappeared from earthly scenes, we will not lose our interest in your struggle, and if the dear Lord will excuse struggle, and if the dear Lord will excus strugge, and if the dear Lord will excuse us for a little while longer from the temple service and the house of many mansions we will come out on the battlement of Jasper and cheer you, and perhaps if that night of this world be very quiet you may hear our voices dropping from afar as we cry, be thou faithful unto death, and thou shalt have a crown."

at All Souls'.

"Prayer without words" was the subject of a very interesting sermion delivered by Rev. Leslie W. Sprague of San Francisco yesterday morning at All Souls' Church, corner of Fourfeenth and L streets northwest.

It was the third of a series of sermons by Rev. Dr. Sprague, and, as were the the others, was attended by a large congregation. His text was from the Gospel of St. Matthew, sixth chapter.

In developing his subject Rev. Dr. Sprague said that one of the great dangers to be avoided was in mistaking the formalities of prayer for sincere prayer. There is danger even greater than this, for there are too many who even forget the a thought of God.

All, he said, who have given serious thought to the life of the hereafter know and feel that there is a demand for constant sincere prayer. It is only by prayer that the Christian can consume with his Creator and make known his wants. Do not put up treasures on earth, but in heaven, for where the treasure is there also will be

Prayer, according to the teachings of fessas Christ, is an element of the heart iself and not a mere formality, a repeition of words.

Continuing, the speaker said all of us mow too well the impossibility to give appression to the accret, sincere thoughts which arise in the Christian beart. Rev. E. Olin Elaridge Tells Why Young Men Are Rutned.

Young Men Are Rutned.

The Rev. E. Olin Eldridge, pastor of Waugh M. E. Church, took for his subject has evening "Want." The text of the sermon was taken from Loke xv, the parable of the prodigal son. He said: "This parable portrays a warm welcome by the lather of the prodigal, but not more so than the Father who is watching over as always. His welcome is unbounded."

Dr. Eldridge laid particular stress on the fact that a number of men are ruined the fact that a number of men are ruined by having too much money and nothing to do. He said that parents, as a general rule, were entirely too lentent. "It's a good thing to know just where, we are," he resumed. "To know this is difficult and many persons are lost be-fore they find out. Surroundings govern one's life and one is always susceptible a change in manner by a change of dress to Men at Foundry.

Rev. B. L. Whitman, D. D., president of Columbian University, delivered an address to men in the lecture hail of Foundry, M. E. Church at 4.30 o'clock yesterflay affernoon.

President Whitman chose as his topic, "The Three Ways of Living." He said that the first of these was the cynical way, which took its origin from the teachings of Diogenes, and which taught independence as the first object in life. But the doctrine of independence soon became one of indifference, and was carried to an extreme.

The second manner of living was that slew, and trimming ship accordingly.

The third was the manly way, combin ing the best elements of both cynicism and opportunism, being independent in the true sense of the word, and taking advantage of opportunity for the best results to be derived.

Influence of Young Women for Good and Kindred Themes Handled by Able Speakers.

First Congregational Church held a very large audience yesterday afternoon, the oc-casion being the amiversary meeting of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union of the District of Colombia. The numerous presence of friends and admirers of this active and valuable organization was a very flattering testimonial to its worth, considering the unpropitious charac ter of the weather.

Mrs. S. D. La Fetra presided over the exercises, which consisted of music, the reading of abstracts of reports, addresses by some of the officers, by the Rev. Dr. Whitman, president of Columbian University, and the Rev. Dr. J. E. Gilbert, secretary of the American Society of Religious Education. The program was opened with an organ voluntary, by Br. J. W. Bischoff, after voluntary, by Br. J. W. Bischoff, after which the congregation sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The feature of the musical program was the singing by the Y choir, which presented quite a pretty pic-ture in Oxford cape and robes on the stage. Their selections were "Some Glad Day," "They Crucified Him," "White Ribbon Vi-brations."

The soloists were Miss Nannie Moffett and Miss Mary Hawthorne Clear. and Miss Mary Hawthorne Clear.
Rev. Dr. Whitman spoke on "Christian culture." The idea of the address was to show that culture which does not touch the heart was incomplete, so far as the true object of cincation was concerned.
Dr. Gilbert spoke on "The influence of young women in temperance work." The very nature of the young women, so different from that of the young men, so free from the traillies and vices of the day, made her a great factor for good in the home circle. In fact, it is a well-known principle that men rise and fall according to the influence of women. The ambitions of life are dependent on the influence of their present or future partners in life. So then, if a young woman is thoroughly imbuced with the truth that temperate lives are the best, she will teach Again she could exert a powerful influence
